Slav Troops Continue to Make Gains; Important Positions Wrested From Austrians

WEST FRONT SEES ARTILLERY FIGHTING

Muscovite Success Surprise to Allies; American Staff Chief Sees Fighting As Observer

By William G. Shepherd
United Press Staff Correspondent.
PETROGRAD, July 4.—Austrian troops have been utterly demoralized by the ferocity of the Russian offensive. The free nation's fighting men seem to have been suddenly endowed with super-fighting qualities that lead them to incredible strength in pressing the enemy steadily backward. And here in Petrograd news today of the first offensive seems suddenly to have welded together many diverse elements.

The workmen's and soldiers' congress today express elation at the success of the fighting and appealed to the people for complete support.

"The soldiers and officers," the resolution recited, "have been tempered in the fires of the revolution. They will throw themselves bodily into the fight. The workmen's and soldiers' congresses will support them unflinchingly."

Long life to the revolution and long live the army.

War department officials today asserted their reports showed that the fighting was severe, but that the Russian armies were battling enthusiastically.

A picturesque incident occurred at the Cossacks' congress, which had assembled to hear speeches from Charles Edward Russell and James Duncan, members of the American mission. In the midst of the meeting word was received and read from the platform of the latest successes achieved by the fighters. A score or more Cossacks bolted from the hall, jumped on their horses, and, wildly cheering, spread the news as they galloped through the city. Later the chief of the Cossacks invited Russell and Duncan to repeat some of the remarks they had made to great throngs which assembled on the streets to cheer the news.

Minister of War Kerensky was reported today to have been in the very center of the fighting. Major-General Scott, chief of staff of the United States army and a member of the American mission, with some of his staff, after a brief tour of the front, achieved in the offensive.

TELLS OF FIGHTING.
LONDON, July 4.—The Morning Post's Petrograd correspondent describes the scene of the main fighting in the Zlotitina region in Galicia, and says the enemy strongly posted triple line of permanent trenches in the hills between which flows Knichia stream, twelve miles northeast of Brzezany. The Russians, with a force of artillery exceeding anything yet used on the Russian side, snatched the line of German and Turkish—a combination which has always proved formidable.

Considerable precautions had been taken to assemble regiments of infantry upon whom more or less reliance could be placed, although until put to a test even their own officers could not pretend to know what would happen. The trial proved, whatever may be the case in the rear, that there are at the front men worthy of Russia's great name.

Southwest of Brzezany the fighting seems to have been even more severe and successful still hangs in the balance. This region is also hilly and wooded. The Germans had special redoubts which required long hammering by the artillery before an attack was possible. These defenses were held by German and Turkish—a combination which has always proved formidable.

GERMAN REPORT.
BERLIN (via London), July 4.—The Russians made further attacks in the region of Brzezany, in eastern Galicia, yesterday, but were unable to advance, the war office reports.

CELEBRATE FOURTH.
BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE, July 4 (by the Associated Press).—American hospital units attached to the British army and in charge of six great general field hospitals celebrated the Fourth of July with loyal patriotism. At noon all doctors, nurses and orderlies were drawn up in parade. Bugles were blown, flags were raised and short addresses were delivered by the commanding officers. The British patients took great interest in the exercises.

Later there was a real old-fashioned

VETERAN NEARLY KILLED BY FALL OF FLAGPOLE

SAN LEANDRO, July 4.—Grieving more over the frustration of his cherished wish to fly the largest flag on the tallest staff in town on the Fourth than rejoicing because of his narrow escape from death, Colonel Frank S. Hastings, aged 64, was yesterday suffering from shock brought on when a huge 150-foot flagstaff being erected in his grounds crashed to the ground almost in his path. The flagpole was one of the Hastings' and had been erected in the town, but which the town trustees refused to accept because he insisted on having it placed in the center of the town plaza, while they wished it on the sidewalk at the apex of the plaza.

Chagrined by their refusal, Colonel Hastings determined to place it in the grounds of his own home. He gave instructions to have its erection hurried so that he could show his patriotism today by flying a great 30-foot flag.

The flagstaff was almost in position when one of the ropes attached to it snapped and the pole toppled over, almost crushing Colonel Hastings and wounding him in the chest and arm. The pole was damaged and the Hastings house, the staff was considerably damaged in the fall and will not be erected for another week.

LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE
LONDON, July 4.—Two of the German machines that took part in the air raid on Harwich were brought down ablaze by British naval aircraft and a third machine was seen to crash in a damaged condition. It is officially announced. All the British airmen who engaged the Germans emerged safely from their fights.

BY UNITED PRESS
LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE
LONDON, July 4.—Twelve or fourteen enemy aeroplanes attacked Harwich today, killing eight persons and injuring twenty-two, according to a formal announcement by Lord French. Only slight material damage was done by the bombs dropped. The squadron made off to sea at once after the raid.

Harwich is a seaport town in Essex county, eleven miles east of Manningtree. It is about sixty miles distant from London.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.
The text of the official statement follows:
"A squadron of some twelve or fourteen enemy aeroplanes attacked Harwich from a northeasterly direction about 7:05 o'clock this morning. A number of bombs were dropped and the latest reports state that eight persons were killed and twenty-two injured. Only slight material damage was caused."

"Fire was opened from the anti-aircraft defenses and the enemy's formation was broken up, although the low-lying clouds rendered the visibility very bad. The raiders also were engaged by our own aircraft from a neighboring station."

After dropping their bombs the enemy's aeroplanes turned seaward without attempting to penetrate inland. The whole raid only occupied a few minutes."

DOCKS ARE RAIDED.
During Monday night and Tuesday morning bombing raids were carried out on the docks of Bruges by the Royal Naval Air Service machines, according to an official statement issued today. "Several tons of bombs were dropped and good results obtained," continued the statement, which says all machines returned safely.

Loosened from its fastenings through the capsizing of a big barge at the foot of High street during the night, 200,000 feet of spruce lumber, valued at more than $15,000, was set adrift in the waters of the estuary this morning, floating down toward the bay with the ebb tide and endangering shipping in the stream.

Launches were manned to gather up the cargo, but a large amount of it was lost before the operations of the workers became effective. The lumber was at the wharf of the National Box Factory, the loss is estimated at several thousand dollars.

BABY IS KILLED
COLFAX, Wash., July 4.—Fire crackers thrown by passers-by at Brenda Schirman, 3, as she was playing in the front yard of her home, set fire to her clothing today and burned her so severely she died.

County authorities are hunting the person who threw the firecracker.

U-WARSHIP TOLL
LONDON, July 4.—The weekly shipping summary issued today shows that fifteen British merchant ships of more than 1600 tons were sunk and five vessels of less than that tonnage. Eleven fishing vessels also were lost.

DESTROYER SUNK
LONDON, July 4.—The admiralty today announced the sinking by striking a mine of an old type British destroyer in the North Sea. Eighteen members of the crew are reported missing.

SOME BREW THIS
PORTLAND, Ore., July 4.—It took five policemen today to subdue and take to the city jail J. Thompson, amateur brewer, after he had taken several drinks of his home made beverage. He is charged with violating the prohibition law.

DIVER BOMBARDS
LONDON, July 4.—A German submarine was bombed a port in the Azores. So far as known no damage was done by the gunfire.

FINAL PLAN FOR BOARD COMPLETED

New Body, to Control Hospital for County, to Effect Radical Changes in the Institution

Strict Civil Service, No Politics, Efficiency, Among First Aims Set Forth in Ordinance

A final conference has been arranged between the Board of Supervisors and the State Board of Charities and Corrections for Monday afternoon in the office of District Attorney Hynes. At that time the details of the ordinance submitted to the Supervisors by the state organization providing for the creation of the new commission for the management of the hospital system of Alameda county will be discussed with District Attorney Hynes and his deputy, T. P. Wittschen, who handles all matters for the Supervisors.

The delegation of powers to a commission such as is proposed by the State Board of Charities and Corrections is going to be no easy matter. The state law does not contemplate such commissions except with the most limited powers, and then entirely advisory. It is the proposal of the state organization that the new commission be given power to install a uniform system of management for the Alameda county hospital units and also manage the hospitals when they shall have been placed under that system.

NOT IN STATE LAW.
The state laws do not provide for anything of this kind and there is nothing that definitely allows the delegation of such broad powers to an appointive body.

It will be a matter requiring both time and study to perfect such a plan in a legal way. No other county in the state has ever attempted anything of the kind. The County Welfare Commission is provided for by state law, but is given only the most limited advisory powers. Some counties have established commissions for the management of some technical branches of the county government, but these have only the most limited advisory powers and, at best, have a doubtful legal standing.

District Attorney Hynes himself says that there is no legal way by which the actual management and executive powers that the proposed commission is to have can be transferred to the Supervisors.

To overcome this legal difficulty it is proposed that the Supervisors shall appoint an advisory commission, which shall be given the power to perform, and then agreeing that the Supervisors will simply take the legal steps to put into effect what the proposed commission will decide is best.

DRAFT SUBMITTED.
A draft of these proposed ordinance has been submitted by the state organization, but this is only in the rough, and it is expected by both the state organization and the Supervisors that this will be modified and changed in many particulars. It is to be discussed at the meeting which will be held Monday afternoon last and is now being thoroughly studied and digested by the members of the county board and the legal department of the county.

A number of changes may yet be made in the document before it is presented to the Supervisors for final adoption.

The new commission will be named the "Alameda County Institutions Commission" and by this name it is expected to get around the objection that many people have to the use of such words as "infirmary," "poor farm," "poor house," and the like.

The terms for which appointment is sought is eight years, and they will be removable only for cause. No compensation will be allowed the commissioners.

Every employee of the hospital service of Oakland will be put upon the most rigid civil service. The ordinance submitted provides for examinations and that the commission shall certify to the Supervisors one name for appointment, that name to be taken from the three highest in the examination. This latter point is under discussion and it may be that the usual civil service rule will be made to apply, allowing the commission to certify three names to the Supervisors and giving the Supervisors the privilege of selecting one of the three. This is an example of some of the details that are under discussion and which will take some time to work out.

The members of the State Board of Charities and Corrections authorize the statement that they have no expectation of any action by the Supervisors on Monday next, and that they do not expect to take any action for some time so that the entire matter can be worked out and adjusted to the satisfaction of all concerned. The State Board of Charities and Corrections expressly states that it is their desire to have this matter arranged to the satisfaction of all branches of the county government, so that when it is finally put into operation and effect that it will be with the cordial support of all the departments of the county and with the support of the people, for without such support the state organization feels that the plan would not be fully successful.

STATE INTERESTED.
After the creation of the new commission it is not the intention of the State Board of Charities to leave the commission and the Supervisors to their own devices, neither is it intended that the state organization will force itself upon the county officials; but it is expected that the state board and its employees will be at the service of Alameda county and the new commission in the inauguration and execution of its plans.

CHAMPIONS OF GERMANY TRAITORS: T.R.

Roosevelt Declares All in U. S. Who Favor Cause of Foe Are Guilty of Moral Treason

Professional Pacifists Scored As Enemies of Nation; There Can Be No War Half-Stand

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE
FOREST HILLS, Long Island, N. Y., July 4.—Declaring that those in America who champion Germany's cause against the cause of America are guilty of moral treason, and are in fact, although not in law, moral traitors, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, in a Fourth of July address here today, pleaded for a single standard of patriotism and loyalty.

"We are now at war with Germany," said Colonel Roosevelt. "For over two years Germany has heaped insult upon insult, injury upon injury, on our people and she did not even dare to prepare so as to be able effectively to resent wrong in the future. Our supreme inaction was partly due to the folly engendered in our people by the professional pacifists. Every one of our people should be aware that the men who took the lead in the German-American movement sought entirely to subordinate the actions of the country of which they were nominally citizens, the United States, to the needs of the country for which they were citizens."

IT IS MORAL TREASON.
"Now we are at war with Germany, yet many of these persons supported, of course, by professional pacifists, continue to champion Germany's cause against the cause for which they are citizens. It is moral treason to the republic, and all who engage in it are in fact, although not in law, traitors who have no right longer to be treated as American citizens. The time has come, to the fact that they drop all of their allegiance, and in good faith become outright Germans or outright Americans. They cannot be both, and those who pretend to be both are merely Germans hypocritically pretending to be Americans in order to serve Germany and damage America."

At this moment the vital thing to remember about these half-hidden traitors is that to attack America's allies, while we are at death grips with a foreign enemy, is to aid our enemy, or to champion that foe against our allies, or to apologize for that foe's infamous wrongdoing, is to be false to the cause of liberty and to the United States.

CLAIM IS NONSENSE.
Colonel Roosevelt said that the claim that it was natural for American citizens of German origin to favor Germany, and to be "hyphenated," "criminal to boot," and added, "either a man is an American and nothing else, or he is not an American at all. We are akin by blood and descent to most of the nations of Europe, but we are a separate and distinct nation. We are a new and distinct nation, and we are bound always to give our whole-hearted and undivided loyalty to our flag, and in any international crises to treat every foreign nation as a unit, and not as a collection of races."

Elaborating on that point and protesting against the plan to exclude from American Red Cross units Americans of German or Austrian parentage or descent, Colonel Roosevelt said that if it had been permitted to raise a military force for service in France many of his officers would have been chosen from among men of German parentage who were undoubtedly Americans.

CONTRASTS BRUTALITY.
Colonel Roosevelt severely arraigned those who seek to excuse the acts of Germany, "our embittered and venomous foe," by saying "we would behave in like manner if we had the opportunity, and reviewed the history of the civil war in support of his contention that the utterance was "infamous falsity."

"Contrast the brutality shown toward women and children on the Lusitania and scores of other ships by the officially directed German submarines with the 'Abraham' action fifty years ago," he continued. "Semmes never destroyed a vessel without providing for the safety of the passengers and crew. He turned his own officers out of their cabins to put in the women and children of his foe, and once when he had 700 prisoners and a prize he allowed them to go in freedom on the vessel rather than send them to a nearby port where there was yellow fever. Compare these actions with the methodical and organized brutality of the German military authorities in this war and then brand with the same the American traitors who seek to give Germany by asserting that we, if given the chance, would be guilty of atrocities like those she has committed."

ONE FLAG, ONE LANGUAGE.
Touching on the matter of language, Colonel Roosevelt declared that "we must have in this country but one flag, and for the speech of the people but one language, the English language. During the present war"

Big Drive on German Spies Begun by U. S.

By CARL D. GRANT.
United Press Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, July 4.—Germany's spy system—betrayer of America's expeditionary forces—must be ousted from America.

That mandate went forth today from war and navy heads in the midst of a nation's rejoicing over America's victory in her first battle of the war.

Secret agents of this nation were put at work in the most thorough search for spies yet undertaken. That the attack, made possible by the spy system failed was due only to America's desperate destroyer fighters, who beat off a double nest of submarines lurking at two points on the trail of the France-bound troops and their convoys.

Former DARING EQUALLED.
Dewey's daring at Manila, Sampson's destruction of Cervera's fleet, and the daring exploits of earlier American fighters contain no more thrilling tale of heroism and efficiency than the two night battles of Admiral Gleaves' men. One or more German U-boats and their crews lie a mass of wreckage on the ocean floor, and the American transports and destroyers, even to the last horse and supply transport, are safe in France.

Officials believe America now realizes that the war is at her doors and that she must do her utmost to conquer the foe.

The transports put out in divisions from an American port under a heavy naval escort guard. Somewhere in the Atlantic the speedy gray transports were to join with Gleaves' grim destroyers. All went well until the night of June 22—just before the rendezvous was reached.

FIRE ON SKULKING FOE.
While the rays of the convoy searchlights flashed trails of silver along the sea American gunners fired at the skulking foe whose torpedoes even then were sizzling past bow and stern. At least five were fired from the destroyers, proving there were that many U-boats about.

Gunfire from the convoy scattered the skulkers, whose fire decreased and ended.

That attack was upon one section of the transports and occurred at a point this side of the mapped submarine zone.

NEW CHINA BATTLES TO OVERTHROW EMPEROR

Li Huan Hung Reported Safe in Sanctum of the Japanese Legation After Fleeing Home

NAVY IN REVOLT AGAINST YOUNG MANCHU RULER

First Armed Conflict of the Civil War Continues to Rage According to Cable Advices

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—Assassination of President Li Yuan Hung of China is rumored in Shanghai and the city is throbbing with excitement, according to cablegrams received here today by the Chinese World, local Chinese daily newspaper.

The advices stated that the rumored assassination is entirely unconfirmed, but that the reports persist in all quarters.

The cables add that General Chang Gung, leader of the boy emperor's troops, has announced that Fung Kuei Jung, vice-president of China, and Lu Wing Ting, military dictator of two provinces, have declared their allegiance to the monarchy.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—China is in the throes of civil war and a battle is in progress today between troops of the southern provinces.

The advices received here today and made public by the Chinese Nationalist League. The first clash occurred yesterday, the officers of the league announced. They claim the source of its information is unquestionable.

The advices today state that President Li Yuan Hung is safe in Peking, and Vice-President Fung Kuei Jung is leading troops movements in Nanking.

According to the despatches, the soldiers of President Li in the Chinese capital are steadily gaining ground.

LI HUAN YUNG ESCAPES.
LONDON, July 4.—President Li Huan Yung of the Chinese republic has obtained refuge at the Japanese legation at Tien Tsin, after fleeing through the back door of the palace, according to word received here today.

The escape of President Li Yuan Hung from the palace at Peking on Monday evening is reported in an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Tien Tsin.

According to recent press despatches, President Li Yuan Hung was made a prisoner in the palace at the time of General Chang Hsun's coup in the effort to restore the Manchukuo dynasty.

JAPANESE KEEPING WATCH.
TOKYO, July 4.—Civil war has broken out in China, according to information received here today from Shanghai.

One despatch said that a manifesto had been issued by the leaders of the southern provinces refusing to recognize the monarchy set up by the young Manchukuo emperor, Hsuan Tung. The navy, it added, was leading a revolt which was expected to develop serious consequences.

The Japanese government, owing to its important interests in Chinese affairs, is watching the situation keenly. It is generally believed that the navy will support the republicans, while the military and civil authorities are also proclaiming their allegiance to the republic and opposing the monarchy, but this may be for the purpose of preserving the peace in Shanghai. It is believed the restoration plans are deeply laid and that the military governors are really supporting the restoration.

SHANGHAI, July 4.—Tang Shao Yi, former premier, in a statement to the Chinese press said that General Chang Hsun's coup in restoring the monarchy affected the whole world. "I'll leave it to the world," he said, "to decide whether it is right. The republic never had a chance. Real republicans from the beginning had been checked by the reactionaries. Now when the whole world is talking of liberty and liberating itself from autocracy, China is reverting to the past. It is a challenge to new China."

DRUG MEN GATHER IN SAN JOSE

SAN JOSE, July 4.—The opening of the sixth annual convention of the association of California Drug Clerks was held yesterday in the Chamber of Commerce. Resolutions were adopted favoring the bestowal of rank of second lieutenant on drug clerks who enlist in the army, instead of the non-commissioned rank, and another resolution favored the Stephens-Ashworth one-price bill.

On behalf of the city of San Jose greetings were extended by the City Manager, Thomas H. Reed, while C. L. Barrington, of the San Jose Retail Druggists' Association, spoke of the work of the clerks for the support of the government in these days of trial and said that the national situation was such as to call for the utmost loyalty to our country. For the Chamber of Commerce, Joseph Brooks, the secretary, delivered an address of welcome, in which he paid a tribute to the drug clerks.

The president of the California Pharmaceutical Association, Bruce Phillips, extended the greeting of the parent association and invited the drug clerks to become associate members of the older organization. He emphasized the benefit to be derived from co-operation in legislative matters in the present trying situation. The president of the association, J. S. O'Leary, reported a gain of forty-six percent during the past year in the membership of the association and said that its representatives were in many new fields. He told of the financial status, the purchase of Liberty Bonds, and the accurate work of the employment bureau. And matters for the National Association, such as the ten-hour law, minimum wage, and representation on state boards of pharmacy, were encouraged by the president. He suggested higher prices for prescriptions and recommended that the monthly dues of those enlisting for the war be remitted for that period and insurance be taken on their lives for the benefit of their dependents. He further urged that an employment bureau be opened in Los Angeles similar to the one in San Francisco. The clerks were invited to ally themselves to the Brimley, a social club, connected with the state organization, by O. R. McCracken of Berkeley, chairman of the executive committee of the California Pharmaceutical Association and president of the Alameda County Pharmaceutical Association.

"LURED" HUBBY BEGINS SPICY DIVORCE SUIT

The story of how he is alleged to have been "lured from the streets of Oakland by a girl and later forced to marry her is told in an unusual divorce complaint filed in the Superior court by Marshall F. Hobson, age 20, against Carrie R. Hansen Hobson.

Two years ago, Hobson recited in his complaint that he was working along an Oakland street, when he was "lured" by the girl to her home. Soon after this he alleges that the girl forced him to marry her.

While visiting a sister of the bride in Calistoga the name of one mysterious Raymond Hess was mentioned by the Valletta sister of the bride, who asked Hobson if he did not like the intimate way in which Hess was spoken of and left the Calistoga home for his father's ranch near Napa.

Soon his bride followed him to his father's home, Hobson says, and forth in his complaint, the mysterious Hess bringing up the rear. Hess is alleged to have asked the girl to return to him and followed the request with shooting himself.

The story is abruptly ended at this point, the complaint failing to reveal what damage was done in the shooting, or what was Hess' status.

POTATO RIOTS IN AMSTERDAM

AMSTERDAM, July 4.—Serious potato riots took place here last night when mobs attacked two markets and were dispersed by police. Early in the evening the police closed all the streets and bridges leading to the chief vegetable market in Marix street, but notwithstanding precautions enormous crowds collected, including many women carrying children.

The mob became unmanageable and at 10 o'clock reinforcements of mounted police who were hurried to the scene began to fire over the heads of the people. A fierce battle developed in the dark streets until midnight, when troops appeared and closed the entrances to the market.

Worse scenes occurred at the potato market on Handels Kade. A rumor went about that twenty wagonloads of potatoes for England were stored in a barge alongside the market. The mob stormed the market.

ATTACK POLICE.

It was necessary to call troops to disperse the mob.

The cessation of the riots was only temporary and soon a very large mob assembled and threw potatoes and stones at the police and troops. Several officers were maltreated by the angered people, who dared the soldiers.

BRING POTATOES.

The newspapers today express fear that the riots will be renewed tonight and believe that such demonstrations are unavoidable, considering the government's economic policy and the hunger of the people.

In order to appease the people twenty-three wagon loads of potatoes were brought to Amsterdam today from the principal potato growing tract of Holland. The burgomaster has issued a proclamation forbidding further demonstrations.

The dock workers have proclaimed a strike and troops sent here from Haarlem are guarding the harbor.

PASTOR CHARGED

PORTLAND, Ore., July 4.—Charged with defamation of character and violation of the law, Rev. Clarence True Wilson, formerly pastor of the Centenary Methodist Episcopal Church here and for the last several years national executive secretary of the Methodist Temperance Society, will face a special investigating committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church here tomorrow. The investigation will be in charge of Rev. W. W. Youngman, district superintendent.

The charges have been preferred by Harry McCain of Salem, Ore., a fellow Methodist and co-worker with Wilson in the temperance movement.

It is alleged that Wilson wrote letters to McCain and other persons, in which he attacked McCain and his wife since have become reconciled and the letters, it is declared, will be presented at the hearing to support the case.

SUICIDE ON TRAIN

TRACY, July 4.—John Vick, on a Southern Pacific train near Tracy, shot himself twice in the head with a .32 caliber revolver. He had six $100 bills and in his pockets.

He boarded the train at Lorenzo with a ticket for Stockton. He had been in a German hospital in San Francisco and also had been released from a relief home for aged and infirm at San Francisco June 18. His age was about 50. He left no note of explanation.

REVENUE IS HIGH

WASHINGTON, July 4.—Internal revenue collections for the fiscal year ending June 30 amounted to $809,215,997, of which $179,911,477 came from individual income taxes and $180,064,663 from corporation income tax. The total exceeded by nearly 50 per cent the 1916 figures of $125,723,287.

The cost of collection, Secretary McAdoo said last night, was 95 cents per $100, the lowest in history.

KILLED IN FLIGHT

LOS ANGELES, July 4.—J. C. Simons, 19 years old, was killed here last night during his flight from police detectives who were pursuing him and a companion as suspected automobile thieves. The two men, according to the police, drove away in an automobile which the detectives were watching, believing it had been stolen.

F COMPANY IS SEEKING RECRUITS

Bearing a message to "hurry up and join us" from their comrades now guarding railroads in the high Sierras, to the young men of Oakland, Corporals George Brown and Amos Cardwell of F Company, Fifth Infantry, National Guard, have arrived here to conduct a recruiting campaign. "There is room for many more men in F Company, and the two recruiting officers, who have established headquarters at the regular army recruiting station, 908 Broadway, will try to fill the ranks in the short time before the selective draft comes into operation."

"Now is the time to join F Company; the boys are having a regular vacation in the mountains," said Corporal Brown.

INDIAN SAVED BY RAINSTORM

ANTLER, Okla., July 4.—Bear Claw, an Indian, escaped death by hanging here through a providential rain. He had been suspended from a tree by a noose of rawhide about his neck and had been left for dead by a gang of bandits. Rain, however, caused the rawhide to stretch and the Indian was able to liberate himself.

"We will take all the men we can get. They will be with men from their home city. That alone should prompt them to join before they may be called to the colors, when they will not then have the selection of what unit they prefer to join."

BUTCHERS MAY JOIN IN STRIKE

Employees in the meat industry in Alameda county may go on strike in sympathy with the members of the recently formed Slaughter House Employees' Union following refusal of the packing plants to recognize that organization. Members of the Butchers' Local No. 120, numbering 260 men, will hold a meeting next Tuesday evening to decide the question of a strike. Every meat market in Oakland will be affected should a strike be called, labor leaders say.

The trouble which now threatens a strike started six weeks ago when the Slaughter House Employees' Union was organized. The men in the union, numbering about thirty, were immediately

CONSERVATION COURSES PLANNED IN U. S. SCHOOLS

WASHINGTON, July 4.—Lectures on food conservation will be in the curriculum of 75 summer schools throughout the summer as part of the food administration's summer campaign, Herbert C. Hoover announced today. A quarter million students probably will take advantage of this course. As nine-tenths of the number are school teachers the ideas promulgated will reach audiences especially equipped to disseminate these doctrines to the school children of the nation.

Everywhere today is being offered the toast:

Here's to the man
That raised the corn
That fed the goose
That bore the quill
That made the pen
That wrote the Declaration
Of Independence.

It is not just a big noise we are making this year, nor do we hold the famous goose in any spirit of levity. We are actually raising more corn and more geese and we are writing anew a Declaration of Independence at which a new world will marvel. Men and women have put away luxury and frivolity, have simplified life and living, have covenanted their friendships and are devoting themselves to planter things that war may soon be ended and the nations again at peace.

That is one reason that tomorrow in the men's grill in the Capwell roof garden a coterie of society women are opening the headquarters where for many months the women's branch of the New League of Alameda county will carry on in the name of their patriotism a marvelous work. It is a fitting way in which to celebrate the birth of a nation—the beginning of a service which will become one of the factors in the big war problem.

The grill room is a charming, sunny spot, overlooking the lovely roof garden. Tastefully fitted and redecorated with flags and flowers and chairs not too comfortable to make one forget just why she had dropped in for a chat over the knitting needles, but still offering rest, there is no doubt but that the attractive place will become the real center of an informal, interesting downtown social intercourse. An eight-hour working day has been announced. Teachers of all the stitches which are needed in the army and navy supplies, no matter how simple or complicated, will be in attendance and it is being arranged that if possible the wool will be furnished those who contribute their time to the fashioning of the garments. To this end there will probably be a little later in the year an excuse to society to gather. Magazines will be found on the tables and occasionally there will be some one to read aloud or to offer entertainment to the busy workers. Women are eager to do whatever they may for the sake of our men in the war and here is just another way which they have discovered for assistance.

Mrs. Leigh Richmond Smith is regent of the Alameda county section of the woman's branch of the Navy League, and associated with her as officers are: Vice-regent, Mrs. Charles Miller; treasurer, Mrs. C. S. Chamberlain; secretary, Mrs. Grace Alexander Gray. Mrs. Smith has just completed the personnel of the advisory board, which will bear so important a place in the future work of the organization. It numbers Mrs. Frederick Robson, Mrs. Louise Gage, Mrs. J. G. Berryhill, Mrs. G. H. Gage, Mrs. George Rothganger, Mrs. Frederick Samuel, Mrs. J. D. Eby, Mrs. Charles Lloyd, Mrs. Charles Neal, Mrs. Frank Hall, Miss Mollie Connors, Mrs. Henry Wertheimer, Mrs. Theodore Gray, Mrs. Thomas Anderson and half a dozen others.

Mrs. Frederick Samuel has been named as chairman of the committee and tomorrow Mrs. Smith will announce various other chairmen who will direct the several lines of the work in which the league will engage.

Miss Genevieve Marsh is one of the California girls who is expecting to express her love of country by leaving her home for active service on the battlefield of Europe. Miss Marsh has been most efficiently trained in the hospitals in San Francisco and brings to her humane work a true patriotic spirit. At the headquarters of the Red Cross, where she has many friends among the younger set, she is one of the most popular of the girls. Details of Miss Marsh's departure are not yet made, but it will not be a great time before she is on her way across the waters.

The day has been a delightful one at the Mount Diablo Club and will end tonight with an elaborate dance which will have all the features of a true patriotic celebration. At the Sequoyah Country Club, the Claremont Country Club and down at Del Monte, lovers of tennis and golf strive against each other with merry skill and attracted scores of the smart set, who made up interesting little parties for luncheon and dinner. The Red Cross will be the richer this evening for the brilliant dance which has attracted so many to the golf tournament at Del Monte.

Mrs. and Mrs. Eric Craig left on their honeymoon this morning with a charming home near Redwood as their final destination. There have been few prettier weddings this season than that house ceremony at which the marriage of Miss Fathier and Mr. Craig was solemnized. The bride wore the conventional white satin gown, exquisitely elaborated in lace and embroidery, over which fell the filmy veil caught with a coronet of orange blossoms. Her attendants, Miss Laura Lamoreaux, Miss Anne McClure and Miss Harriet McClure, wore handsome robes of cloth of gold and each carried a large golden basket filled with panicles in the bronze and gold shades. Elizabeth Pattison was the flower girl and she, too, carried the basket of heartsease. Charles Haley assisted Craig as best man.

This morning Dr. Dudley A. Smith and his bride, who was formerly Mrs. Florence Allen of Spokane, Wash., were welcomed to Oakland after an extended honeymoon on the Atlantic coast. The wedding was a simple event of the early June taking place in New York. Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Stanford University, but for the past two years has been a student of art in New York.

Mrs. Virginia Goodsell has taken a pretty cottage on the Russian river for the summer, where she will be joined a part of the season by Mrs. Charles Camm. Mrs. Goodsell and

Gar's Bedtime Stories

By Howard R. Garis

"Oh, Uncle Wiggly!" exclaimed Alice Whitehead, the duck girl, one bright, sunny morning, as she walked with a sideways motion up to the hollow stump bungalow of the old rabbit gentleman. "Oh, Uncle Wiggly, would you mind doing me a favor?" Alice asked.

"A favor? Certainly I'll do it," said the bunny, with a low, polite bow of his head. "Please name it."

"I'd like to have you get me a big pink hair ribbon," said Alice. "Please get me one with yards and yards and yards in it, so I can make a big bow."

"But why do you want so large a bow?" asked Uncle Wiggly. "Wouldn't a bow about the size of my pocket do?"

"Oh, no!" cried Alice Whitehead. "I want a great big bow! All the girls in my school class have them. What Susie Littlejohn, the rabbit girl, has a bow so big that when her brother Sammie sits behind her he can't see the blackboard."

"Oh, dear!" cried Uncle Wiggly, wrinkling his pink nose. "I should think Sammie would like that bow better than you would."

"He doesn't mind a bit—none of the animal boys in the hollow stump mind not wearing the blackboard," quickly laughed Alice. "They say the bigger hair bows we girls wear the better they like it. Then they can't see the blackboard either. I should have said that."

"Were and worse!" cried the bunny, holding up his paws. "I should think Sammie would like that bow better than you would."

"I don't altogether approve of it, myself," went on Mr. Longear, spinning formal like and correct. "As long as I made you a promise, Alice, I'll keep it. I'll get you a pink hair ribbon."

"Get it of a color to match your dear twinkling nose," said Alice with a laugh. "And please be sure there are yards and yards of it, so I can make a big bow."

"As many as I can carry," said the bunny.

When he hopped on through the woods and over the fields from his hollow stump bungalow.

Pretty soon he came to the notion store, where a ladybug said, "Hello, Mr. Bunny. The biggest pink one you have for Alice Whitehead, the duck girl, or for Susie Littlejohn, the rabbit girl. I'm to meet her after school and give her this bow for her hair."

"Very well," said the ladybug storekeeper, and he gave the bunny a big ribbon—well, maybe not a ribbon, but a bow, ribbon comes for hair bows. Perhaps I should have said that.

Anyhow the ladybug cut off one and when she wrapped it up for Uncle Wiggly to carry, she said, "The bunny has a bow that is a little too large."

"Oh, no, there are only sixteen-eleven yards in it," answered the ladybug. "I've counted it. It's just the right size for her. And her bow is so big they can't look at them all at once in a looking glass. They have to take two weeks to see them all."

"Oh, dear!" cried Uncle Wiggly, holding up two paws, this time.

"How can I help you?" asked the ladybug. "I'm to meet her after school and give her this bow for her hair."

"I'm sorry," said the bunny, "but I can't carry it. It's too big. I'll have to take two weeks to see them all."

"Why, yes! Of course I'll help you," said the ladybug. "I'm to meet her after school and give her this bow for her hair."

"What's the matter, Uncle Wiggly?" he asked.

"I've sprained my paw, and I can't carry it," said the bunny. "I'll have to take two weeks to see them all."

"I'm sorry," said the ladybug, "but I can't carry it. It's too big. I'll have to take two weeks to see them all."

RING'S WORK IN CHINESE GRAFT BARED

Suspension of T. H. McCall, a member of the board of examining inspectors on Angel Island, and the seizure of incriminating documents in raids upon three stores and an apartment house in Chinatown and a residence in Berkeley mark the latest step in the investigation being made by John B. Densmore of the Department of Labor into the ramifications of the alleged graft ring which has been gathering in thousands of dollars by the illegal admission of Chinese into the United States through the Angel Island station.

The raids followed the obtaining by the investigator of a detailed confession from a Chinese merchant, now in custody, who revealed the names of five of the conspirators and three local attorneys.

As the details of operation of the graft ring are being uncovered the magnitude of the illegal system becomes more apparent. It is estimated that the profits of the ring have been in excess of $100,000 a year and that several thousand Chinese men, women and children have entered this country through its agency.

One of the most startling of the disclosures is that of the existence in Hong Kong of a "school" for the preparation of would-be emigrants.

CHINESE "INSTRUCTOR."
In this school, according to the Chinese who made the confession, classes of 100 were instructed at one time in the answers which they would give at the immigration station. A regulation textbook, a copy of which was secured by Densmore in the raid on the Berkeley home of the Chinese, is used by the coaches.

After preparation in the "school" the graduates would be shipped to the United States, each "family" group to be met here by a fictitious "father," who had been coached as to his testimony. On arrival here, a member of the organization would pose as the identifying witness required by the government. Through guards and interpreters the incoming Chinese were furnished with photographs of both the "father" and the "witness" in order that recognition might be instantaneous in order not to arouse the suspicions of officers not in the ring.

According to the confession of the Chinese in custody, "family pages" of Chinese admitted a score of years ago would be removed from the records and the altered record would then be restored to the record room at Angel Island. According to the confession the guilty officials received $50 for each record taken out for alteration and $50 additional when the page was returned.

GIVE "COACHING LETTERS."

When changes in testimony were necessary because of unforeseen circumstances the interpreters in the ring delivered "coaching letters" to the immigrants in the detention sheds. Examining inspectors and the trio of attorneys would then be taken care of according to the confession, and the way made smooth for a stenographic report that would defy detection. After admittance to this country the Chinese boys would be sold to wealthy Chinese merchants and the girls disposed of at prices ranging from $1500 to $3000.

The documentary evidence obtained in the raid caused Densmore to suspend at once Inspector J. H. McCall on a charge of malfeasance in office. He has been connected with the department since 1909, and is succeeded by Robert Sherrard of Lomas, Washington.

Within two weeks Densmore expects to conclude his probe of affairs at Angel Island. Daily reports are being sent to Washington, and as soon as the investigation is over the Federal Grand Jury is expected to take action.

HOLD REHEARSAL

The Fourth of July is not a vacation for the cast of "Jeppie-on-the-Hill" to be presented at the Greek Theater Saturday night at 8 o'clock. A dress rehearsal with the orchestra, dancing group, and chorus will be held this evening as usual so that the big special production for the benefit of the Mountain Play Association and as a part of the University summer season will be a hit.

Garnet Holme who is directing the play is highly pleased at the prospects of establishing a high plane for amateur theatricals at the university.

Garbage Collections Are Watched; Delay Protested

Complaints of Irregularity Arouse Officials to Action; Improvement Promised

Numerous complaints from different sections of the city that garbage is not being removed in a satisfactory manner and that the situation is threatening from a sanitary standpoint, yesterday caused the authorities to take stringent measures of precaution in order to prevent sickness.

Since the contract for removing garbage was let to the City Sanitary Production Company the first of the month, the collections from residences have been irregular and during the last two days the city officials have had so many complaints that a special department has been organized to handle the matter.

SOBERBERG ACTS.
Commissioner Frederick Sobergberg upon assuming the duties of head of the department yesterday afternoon busied himself immediately with the garbage question. At the same time Commissioner Jackson provided for more rigid and prompt inspection by sanitary inspectors in cases where complaints are made. He also made arrangements for handling the complaints by an employee of the new company and for sending out wagons to meet with the emergencies.

"I realize that things cannot run smoothly at the start," said Commissioner Sobergberg.

ANTHRAX PEST

Laid to Plots

By inoculating thousands of cattle with the anthrax germ German agents attempted to destroy the fresh meat and milk supply of the Hawaiian Islands, according to the federal authorities at Honolulu who have cabled word of the plot to United States Attorney John W. Preston.

The Bureau of Animal Industry from here to combat the ravages of the disease which, it is said, has already destroyed thousands of cattle. According to the bureau, anthrax which has hitherto been unknown in the islands, is easily transmitted to human beings.

When the disease was first discovered, Drs. J. A. Edmonds and Cyril Golding, of the Bureau of Animal Industry, were sent to investigate. Reports indicate that there has been small headway made against the disease, and the milk and fresh meat supply of the islands is said to be nearing exhaustion. The Department of Justice is conducting an investigation in connection with the work of the physicians.

The Bureau of Animal Industry is taking measures to fight any attempt to spread the disease in this country.

ALARM BETRAYS

Answering a burglar alarm from the watchman at the plant of the Seaboard Pacific Oil Company at 2324 Clay street early this morning, four policemen swooped down upon John Henry Koch, alias James Allison who is being held for attempted burglary. According to the police Koch confessed that he had been in a window leading into the company office with the intent of searching for money. He is said to be a victim of the drug habit, a small amount of cocaine having been found upon his person.

PENNOYER WILL WED IN LONDON

With his brother, Paul Geddes Pennoyer, and his bride, the former Miss Frances Morgan, spending their honeymoon in California, Richard Edmonds Pennoyer sends word from London of his approaching marriage with Lady Winifred Inge. There have as yet been no plans made for the quiet ceremony, which will take place abroad.

The betrothal announcement is of more than ordinary interest in Oakland and Berkeley, where the young son of the A. A. Pennoyers grew to manhood and where they were closely allied with their early financial development of this part of the state.

A student in the Oakland High school, Pennoyer later, attended the University of California, graduating with the class of 1910. He is a fraternity man and connected with several of the honor societies. For the past several years he has been in the diplomatic service in Europe and is second secretary to the American embassy in London. His mother, Mrs. A. A. Pennoyer, visited him there last year. He received his preparation for his public life at Oxford and in Paris. He was formerly private secretary to Robert Bacon, American ambassador to France.

His promised bride is the widow of the late Viscount Inge, who fell in France, where he was a lieutenant serving with the Royal Horse Guards. She is a sister of Charles Henry Alexander Paget, the Marquis of Anglesey.

SHRINERS GATHER

A serenade in honor of B. A. Forrester, chief rabbin and acting potentate of Ahshem Temple, Order of the Mystic Shrine, was tendered last evening by the members of Ahshem band. Assembling at Scottish Rite Cathedral at 8 o'clock, the musical organization proceeded in automobiles to the Forrester residence, 889 Walker avenue, near Lake Merritt, and played a number of concert pieces.

The concert was followed by an informal reception at which Mrs. B. A. Forrester as hostess was assisted by Miss Forrester and Mrs. D. E. Perkins. An instrumental quartet from Ahshem band furnished music during the reception.

RULING IS RIGID ON LIQUOR 'ADS'

Reaffirming its original stand as to mailed liquor advertisements in territories already declared bone dry, the Postoffice Department in Washington refused today to recognize the contention that since certain liquors were permitted in dry districts for "scientific, sacramental, medicinal and mechanical" purposes, advertisements of such liquors should be admitted.

The refusal of the government affects one city, Berkeley, in California, and 1,027 towns. Fifty of the state's fifty-eight counties are affected. California and Ohio, according to a bulletin issued by the Washington office, lead all other states in that they are partly wet and yet have the largest number of bone dry towns.

According to the bulletin, the government recognizes ethyl alcohol as an intoxicant and points out to postmasters and publishers that advertisements of it must not enter dry territories. Methyl alcohol, wood alcohol and denatured alcohol are permissible. The departmental ruling, according to the bulletin, is as follows:

"The contention has been made before the department that inasmuch as the second paragraph of the section permits the interstate shipment of liquor for scientific, sacramental, medicinal and mechanical purposes, matters containing advertisements or solicitations for orders for intoxicating liquors for these purposes is not affected by the act.

"The two paragraphs of the act are entirely separate, the first relating to the mailing of the matter and the second relating to the physical transportation of the liquors themselves—a matter over which this department has no jurisdiction inasmuch as the first paragraph contains no exception as to the purposes for which the liquors are intended or the persons addressed, the department will regard as unlawful all matters containing advertisements or solicitations for orders for intoxicating liquors even though such liquors be intended for scientific, sacramental, medicinal or mechanical purposes.

The bulletin shows that fifty of the fifty-eight counties in the state now have bone dry towns, the list comprising Alameda, Amador, Butte, Calaveras, Colusa, Del Norte, Fresno, Glenn, Humboldt, Imperial, Inyo, Kern, Kings, Lake, Lassen, Los Angeles, Madera, Mariposa, Mendocino, Merced, Modoc, Mono, Monterey, Napa, Orange, Placer, Riverside, San Benito, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Joaquin, San Luis Obispo, Santa Bar-

Surprised in the act of packing loot in the home of Mrs. C. In the automobile was a quantity of goods which the police believe to have been stolen elsewhere. So hastily did the burglar make his exit from the Smith home upon the appearance of Mrs. A. Berlin, her mother, at the front door, that he left behind his coat. The coat contained papers and articles which the police believe may lead to the arrest of the burglar.

RECRUITS SOUGHT FOR NEW BATTERY

A recruiting party composed of twenty men who have recently joined E Battery, the new organization authorized to be recruited in this city, and which will be a unit of the First California Field Artillery, is today making a thorough canvass of the county in a campaign for recruits.

Several thousand circulars will be distributed by the men who will travel in automobiles to the beaches, parks and gathering places of holiday seekers, where they will offer the new battery recruitment song and invite desirable men to enlist in the new organization.

Interested in E Battery until July 7 to recruit the unit to a sufficiently large number of men to guarantee to the state authorities the unit's existence until August 5, the date when the men will be called into the federal service.

Recruiting offices have been established at Room 223, City Hall, and members of the battery will be in attendance there from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m.

In all 190 men are needed for the battery. Several vacancies also are open in the Headquarters Company and Supply Company of the regiment.

"DAN" CUPID

SMASHES ALL JUNE RECORDS

With the issuance during June of 386 marriage licenses in Alameda county, all previous records for the number of licenses issued in one month have been broken, according to Deputy County Clerk "Cupid" Gemmell.

The total for June, 1916, was 278.

Last month's record was aided, according to Gemmell, by two elements, the war and the world old sentiment regarding June brides. Immediately following the declaration of war applications for licenses increased more than 100 per cent during the first few weeks, but with the issuance by the army authorities in Washington of an opinion that men married after the declaration of war would for all military purposes be considered as unmarried men, the rush to "Cupid" Gemmell's bureau quieted down.

RACE RIOTS.

East St. Louis, Illinois, is deserving of the deepest sympathy of the entire country. The people of that city, white and black alike, have become plunged into an orgy of rioting and murder, an incident of community insanity which will ever remain a dark blot upon the history of East St. Louis. When the residents of this normally intelligent and prosperous community recover their senses they will be as sorry for the occurrences of the last three days as anyone else.

In the meantime, however, a large portion of the city has been put to the torch and a score or more persons, mostly negroes, have been killed. Bad feeling between the whites and negroes of East St. Louis has existed for the last few weeks. The cause of it has not been made plain by the news despatches, and when careful investigators ultimately take stock of the situation they probably will disagree as to the original cause. The present phase of the trouble appears to have resulted from the individual offense of either a criminal or ignorant negro. Whatever his crime may have been it cannot be accepted as justification for plunging the residents of a large city into the deadly race war which has since raged.

This affair has grown until its significance extends beyond the limits of the Illinois city and concerns the whole country. It has become a national tragedy. It is evidence of a northern city completely failing legally and peacefully to handle the "negro question," or in any manner differing in an important degree from the much abused methods of the South. These race riots may have an important bearing upon the country's economic and industrial life. Within the last two years there has taken place a heavy migration of negroes from the southern States to northern industrial districts. The loss of negro labor has so alarmed the business men and officials of the southern States that drastic and in some cases absurd laws have been enacted to prevent negroes from leaving the southern States to work in a northern State.

From the press of the South may now be expected a chorus of cynical reminders that the North doesn't know as much about handling race problems as it thought it did; that the advice which northern cities have gratuitously given the South has been proven ineffective and inapplicable.

THE TRIBUNE does not believe this to be the case. The riots and organized incendiarism in East St. Louis during the present week should not be taken as indicating that a similar menace exists in all other northern cities with a large negro population. Because that city has been swept off its feet and its people become drunk with rage, it should not be concluded that every other city is incapable of maintaining a normal equilibrium.

ANOTHER CHINA REVOLUTION.

The hope that China would recover quickly from its recent political upheaval and restore solidarity in the government has been dissipated by the news that the imperialist party has gained the upper hand and is working for the restoration of the Manchu dynasty. An edict has been issued in the name of the youthful Hsuan Tung conveying the information that President Li Yuan-hung has submitted to the demands for his resignation and has been awarded the rank of a duke in the restored monarchy.

That this coup d'etat had been brewing for a long while was apparent. It is known that the late President Yuan Shih-kai was interested in a movement for the restoration of the Manchu dynasty, but at the last moment he substituted himself for the heir to the throne who was driven from power by the republican revolutionaries in 1912. Yuan Shih-kai's illness and death quickly followed.

It now appears that the eleven provinces which seceded from the republic a month ago have united their military forces to uphold the change in government. This movement will probably be temporarily successful, so long as sufficient military force is maintained to keep down revolution. But it cannot hope long to succeed in doing this. Republicanism is too firmly established in China to permit it to be eradicated in a day. It is an idea and an ideal and does not depend upon any personal leadership to give it voice. It may be that the restored form of government, which promises to change itself into a constitutional monarchy, may assert sufficient strength to bring China peace and prosperity. But there is no ground on which to base the hope that the democrats of the south will acquiesce in the change. Revolution is almost certain to follow; at least it will be a smoldering danger to the tranquility of China so long as the imperialists are in control of the central government.

A GARY PLAN EXPERIMENT.

Two years ago the city of New York was faced with the problem of furnishing school accommodations for its child population, a population which had so far outgrown existing facilities that to provide the traditional buildings and classrooms would have involved the immediate expenditure of $40,000,000. Many thousands of children were barred from school altogether and other thousands were forced to a short-time day—of from one to five hours. To avoid a part of the heavy cost of extending the old system until it was adequate, New York adopted the Gary plan in a large number of the schools. A report by the superintendent of schools just published shows some striking results, both from an educational and administrative standpoint.

Two years ago in one district twelve schools had 17,396 children who received only four hours of instruction. Eleven were reorganized on the Gary plan, and by this process of duplication the number of children on a short day reduced to 7732. In the meantime, the original twelve schools selected for reorganization have had an increase in register in two years of 5348. During the same period new schools and several annexes, with a total capacity of the traditional plan of 4100, were opened. Making allowances for the increase in population and opening of new schools, the duplication of eleven of the twelve schools has had the effect of eliminating 12,344 short-time pupils. Not only are the duplicate schools giving these 12,344 a full day, but they are giving about 29,000 a school day ranging from five to six and a third hours.

The total amount of money appropriated and applicable to the duplication of the eleven schools as they are operated today is $368,373.60, and of this amount only $171,511.79 has been expended for actual service. This is the real cost of giving 12,344 children who formerly had a four-hour day a school day of from five to six and a third hours.

To accomplish the same result in the old way would require about 6170 sittings, and these would cost at the current price of $10,000 per classroom unit at least $1,470,000. The city has saved $1,101,627 by the process of duplication, and has at the same time provided an enriched curriculum of work, study and play for 29,000 children. It is claimed that the duplicate schools are superior to the regular schools in the results obtained in academic tests as well as in the progress shown in these studies, compared with previous tests.

Notwithstanding the great service to the children and parents which these results signify, strong and bitter opposition to the Gary plan in New York has developed. It is open and frank in its animosity and its several sources are readily discernible. First, the teaching system does not want it, because it means less teachers and a radical breaking away from the "three r's." Second, the building contractors, a powerful factor in New York politics, do not want it, because it means fewer profitable public building contracts. Third, the political opponents of the city administration are trying to make material out of it to be used against the reelection of Mayor Mitchell. All these factors have combined for the organization of "neighborhood clubs" in every school district to foster criticism and demands for the preservation of the century-old and mostly obsolete traditions of public education. These experiences of New York's venture with a public school reform concerns every other community, because they indicate just what may be expected when an important reform is attempted anywhere. San Francisco, which is faced with the necessity of modernizing her school system, a step delayed for at least a quarter-century, should be especially interested.

It is a matter of regret that no definite arrangement has yet been made for the visit of the Italian mission now in the United States to the Pacific Coast. There are many Italians on this coast. They have come forward to offer their services in the defense of the country of their adoption with a readiness which other citizens might well emulate. Prince Udine and William Marconi would bring them a message directly from their native country, from the land of Garibaldi, Mazzini and Cavour. They would tell the citizens of Italian ancestry that Italy has been true in this hour of trial and has kept the faith of her heroic founders of constitutional government. They would ask that their fellow countrymen in America help to keep Italy safe.

A GREAT RESPONSIBILITY.

The people of the United States have responded to the appeal of the American Red Cross with a free-will offering the like of which never was seen before under the sun—probably it will exceed $120,000,000. It may be that the collection would have been much larger had it not come upon the very heels of the prodigious gathering for the Liberty Loan, or it may be that it was only the easier under the impetus of the loan campaign. However that may be, the men and women who will administer this colossal relief and reconstruction fund are now in a position to do tremendous things. But with the unprecedented opportunity and power goes a staggering responsibility. The utmost wisdom will be required in the distribution of the great sums that will be apportioned, and the utmost vigilance to keep it out of the reach of grafters and self-seekers. Two weeks ago we exhibited before the world our readiness to loan at interest to the government billions for the purposes of the war; now we have shown an equal readiness to give unconditionally without thought of return. Many gave who would not lend. The congratulations and the thanks of the country are due to the tireless workers who carried out with so great enthusiasm the campaign of collection. Now the burden falls upon those whose duty and privilege it will be to administer the enormous gift of the people in wise ways to mend the broken world and to restore it for the uses of mankind. It is a blessed privilege, and a sacred trust.—New York Evening Post.

NOTES and COMMENT

Criticism of the South by the North for the way it sometimes treats negroes will not sound so well after the doings at East St. Louis. Human nature is about the same on both sides of the line.

The President's draft proclamation contains so many possible exemptions that those who registered with fear and trembling ought to take courage. There are many chances to escape service.

The railroads, possibly taking a lesson from other organizations that fall at first in their efforts for amelioration, are represented to have the purpose to try again at once for a raise of rates, though their failure was rather decisive.

The query recurs whether the I. W. W. are not bestirred with German money to all the trouble they are kicking up. Whatever it is, a firm military hand is the agency which may have to be relied on to stop it.

The Marysville Appeal corrects an erroneous impression: "It is not true that the food speculators are all pirates, as some of them are only gamblers."

Mrs. Ewright adopted a novel plan to satisfy herself that other women did not flirt with her husband. She compelled him to walk in front when they were out together. But the worm turned, and now Mr. Ewright is busy in the divorce court. He seems to prefer to make progress without a trailer.

The performances of the cowboy and girl with bronchos and steers afford a show of never failing attraction, if one is to judge from the interest manifest in the San Jose roundup. Hundreds of automobiles take thousands of persons down to see the show.

The Richmond Record-Herald butts into foreign affairs: "It is worrying our British allies that the name of England's royal house is 'Saxe-Coburg-Gotha,' as German as sauer kraut, and it is proposed to change the name to 'Stuart.' Why not throw the entire royal house of cards into the discard. Calling a frankfurter a thistle will not make it blossom."

Copied from the Redding Courier-Free Press merely as a tribute to the new official title: "While a lot of peopish puffblowers at Washington are pretending not to know how to reduce prices to normal, it is calmly announced the steel corporation last year made a profit of $250,000,000 and the meat packers not less than $25,000,000. Wonder if that will give them a clue that something is wrong?"

Rival town amenities, as exemplified by the Nevada City News: "Report that a mysterious woman had drowned an infant in a sack in a creek at Chico caused a policeman to get his feet wet. The sack contained a cat. Chico is a city of sensations. Only a few days ago a drayman cut his finger while whittling, according to the press of that city."

The Russians have not concluded a separate peace with Germany. That much seems certain from the latest news from the Austro-Russian battle front. There was a lurking fear that they would.

Directors Mead and Douglass of the Federal Farm Loan Bank, who have forwarded their resignations, must have a substantial grievance. Both were in Berkeley on Monday, yet declined to attend the session of the board. Something very much out of joint must exist in this connection, which needs prompt and impartial attention.

Found in the Santa Ana Blade: "The OAKLAND TRIBUNE says: 'We have not noticed that any of the moving picture bad men have volunteered to go over and end the war.' Here is a chance for 'two gun' Hart to do something 'right white.'"

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

Ninety-eight cents a barrel for oil in Kern county means a million dollars annually to the independent oil producers composing the agency. It is the highest price they have ever received for their oil, and the peak is not yet in sight. The independents control about 12,000,000 barrels annually and 98-cent oil means $12,000,000 business.—Bakersfield Echo.

For table purposes no finer fish swims than the striped bass, and nowhere are they more numerous or more easily caught than in the Sacramento river at Chico landing, at present. A broiled striped bass garnished with parsley and served with proper accessories is a dish fit to set before the President of a European republic.—Chico Enterprise.

The Denman-Gothals row may be to the Wilson administration what the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy was to Mr. Taft. It is always unfortunate when two subordinates of an administration become seized with the idea that each is the indispensable man and that his proposals are the only honest and efficient ones. In this case, however, the President may decide it—for he will have to take the matter in hand—the opinion of the country will not be divided as in the former case. The country will inevitably side with Goethals.—San Luis Obispo Tribune.

American crowds seem to enjoy themselves less in their feasts than crowds of any other nation. They have their bursts of applause and bursts of amusement during the course of their carnivals and gala days, but as a general rule American amusement seekers carry their everyday cares about with them upon every occasion. The average American is quite incapable of enjoying to the full the "present moment." He is always thinking of what he is going to do in the future or what has happened to him in the past.—San Jose Mercury.

I come from the wild waste places;
my lair is under the night;
I prowled round the shelves of creation
ere the Lord made the light;
Up the long path of the ages my cry
is confusion and strife;
I am the shadow that follows the weaker children of Life.

From me they have fled to the Father and crouched round the altar stone;
Since the angels sang in the morning
I am the vast Alone;
I am the voice of the thunder
as he hurled the lightning;
I am the horror of waters that rolled o'er the infant world.

As a mist from the marshes of evening
I rise and spread as a pall;
I am the tall, dark structure that is ever about to fall.
I stand round the pillows of slumber
the specter of evils forgot;
I bring from the chasms of waking the burden of things that are not.

I am the whisper of failure, the rumor
of panic and war;
Ere the Thing arrives in the market
I am the Shadow before;
I gloom round the high endeavor;
I halt the march of the plan;
I am the wax that erases the strength of the soul of a man.
I am the night of the mind; when the light has gone out I am there;
I hang out the high name of God on the front of the Gates of Despair;
I drive the strong man as a slave till the sound of his waking is heard.
When I flee from his terrible brightness

NEW NATIONAL DISHES.

Gerald Sherman, superintendent of the mining department of Phelps, Dodge & Co., told this one: At a miners' union meeting held at Bisbee at the time there was an attempt being made to unionize the camp, the question arose as to whether Mexicans admitted to the union should be allowed to work underground. One speaker opposed any such thought on the grounds of difference in economic equality of the whites and Mexicans. Waxing warm to his subject, he shouted: "How do they live? You all know. What do they eat? You all know. What do they wear? You all know. What do they do? (Voice from back of hall: "Chile Killarney and torpedoes.")—Engineering and Mining Journal.

OAKLAND CELEBRATES INDEPENDENCE DAY

JULY FOURTH EXERCISES OBSERVED

The grim reality of war overshadowed the customary enthusiasm of Oakland's Fourth of July celebration this year, to the extent that the day's events were mostly of a quiet observance of a holiday nature rather than a reflection of a national fiesta. Music, athletic events, children's pageants and a ball and patriotic rally, with an absence of the customary fireworks and parade formed the day's program.

At 10 o'clock this morning, children of all ages and sizes congregated at the various playgrounds and recreation parks throughout the city, where patriotic pageants were staged under the direction of the Playground department of the city of Oakland. Here in simple form was enacted chapter after chapter of American history in song, story and allegorical representation. Flag drills by the children, the singing of national airs, and brief talks on great Americans and the country's history were made by various speakers.

FLAG DRILL FEATURE.
A feature of the flag drills held in all of the playgrounds, was the presence for the first time in American history, of the flag of the allies side by side with the Stars and Stripes. Tiny lads dressed in the costumes of the allied warring countries, spoke little pieces giving the history of the flag of each nation. At the conclusion of these exercises, the grounds were given over to the children who spent the balance of the day in a Fourth of July romp.

On Lake Merritt, beginning at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the city's only event of the day in the form of a water carnival and aquatic program. Rowing contests between women's inter-collegiate teams, high schools crews, boys and girls crews, canoe races, tub races, canoe tripping contests, surf-board riding, water circus, tug-of-war and other novelty water sports were staged here. A display race between the firemen and police department crews, and a canoe parade under the direction of the California Canoe Club wound up the day's fun on the lake.

musical will come the flag lowering ceremony under the auspices of Company C, National Guard of California, members of the G. A. R. and other patriotic organizations. Rev. William D. Simonds will be the speaker of the occasion. At the conclusion of the address a pageant of the Allies will be staged. The audience will then join in singing the "Star Spangled Banner" and pledging allegiance to the flag.

EVENING PROGRAM.
The Alameda County chorus of 300 trained voices will give the great concert "America" at the Oakland auditorium tonight at 8:30 p. m., at the opening of the big patriotic pageant which is to be formally begun with a parade of the G. A. R. and a pageant of the allies. Elaborate preparations have been made for the affair, the auditorium being decorated from end to end with flags and bunting in honor of the event. At the conclusion of the pageant, the Fourth of July grand ball, open to the public, will be opened. Mayor John L. Davis and Miss Lucy Young, the noted soloist, will lead the grand march.

During the afternoon and evening, patriotic events were staged at the various amusement parks of the east-bay district. At Idora park the Civic Association of Alameda County took charge of affairs. Mount Lagunita, the noted picnic battlement in action, the production of a patriotic extravaganza, and the Idora dancing girls, were all included in the schedule of events for the day, which marked the most comprehensive celebration Idora has staged in many a day.

BIG CELEBRATION

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 4.—Los Angeles burned little powder in celebration of Independence Day. The solemn spirit engendered by the war has made responsible for this as the rather strict police regulations regarding fireworks. All of the money appropriated by the city council for observance of the Fourth of July was contributed by the celebration committee to the Red Cross war fund. Plans for an elaborate celebration, including the giving of a great military parade in the downtown district, accordingly were abandoned.

At Lincoln park which was designated as the scene of the principal celebration in the city, a company of army engineers were scheduled to demonstrate how quickly a bridge strong enough to bear the weight of a field gun could be constructed over a lake in the park and subsequently removed.

CELEBRATE 4TH

CENTREVILLE, July 4.—A patriotic celebration arranged by the merchants was held here today. The program consisted of flag raising exercises, addresses, patriotic music and a parade in which members of the S. P. R. S. I. took part. The whole community joined in the different events.

ATTENDS FIESTA

MEXICO CITY, July 4.—President Carranza attended a Fourth of July celebration at the American hospital today.

THREE FIRE CALLS.

HAYWARD, July 4.—The Fire Department was called out at midnight last night for the third time in one day. It proved to be a false alarm, the other two calls were to fight grass fires.

American Troops in Paris Hold Celebration as Capital Hears News

GENERAL PERSHING (arrow) LEAVING HOTEL DE CRILLON IN PARIS FOR PALACE OF PRESIDENT POINCARÉ.

Wherever General Pershing goes in France he is treated as a great hero by the populace. Hats are lifted, crowds cheer and flowers are thrown in his path. The fact that General Pershing's ancestors came from Alsace-Lorraine, the French territory appropriated by Germany at the close of the Franco-Prussian war in 1871, and which the French are now determined to get back, adds to France's love for the American commander.

"Sammies" Cheered by Thousands in France; Pershing Reviews U. S. Troops

PARIS, July 4.—"The population of Paris in saluting the American troops July 4," says Le Temps, "will express the joyous confidence that military cooperation of the United States of America inspires us. Everyone will feel instinctively that victory is ours, on seeing march by them these soldiers who have come so quickly from the country that sees everything on a large scale."

"Germany, which has just witnessed the re-awakening of the Russian army, will count with anxiety the regiments massed on the other side of the Atlantic. Events in Galicia rob her of all immediate hope, while American preparations make vain all aspirations for the distant future."

The Fourth-of-July celebration in Paris today established a new high mark of enthusiasm.

The city was full of American soldiers and one of the chief features of the celebration was a procession of United States regulars who recently arrived to fight under General John J. Pershing.

The American members of the French foreign legion were given a furlough to come to Paris to take in the celebration.

The city was gay with flags and bunting and many of the buildings were resplendent with the red, white and blue.

Patriotic addresses were made by General Pershing, by William G. Sharp, the United States ambassador to France and by Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium, as well as others.

TRIBUTE TO FRANCE.
FRANCE FRONT IN FRANCE, July 4 (By the Associated Press).—General Petain, commander-in-chief of the French armies operating on the French front yesterday issued the following general order:

"Tomorrow, Independence Day celebration of the United States, the first American troops which have disembarked in France will march in Paris. Later they will join us on the front. Let us salute these new companions in arms who, without thought of gain nor of conquest, but with the simple desire of defending the cause of right and liberty, have come to take their place in the ranks beside us."

"Others are preparing to follow them. They will soon be on our soil. The United States means to put at our disposition, without reckoning, their soldiers, their factories, their vessels and their entire country. They want to pay a hundredfold the debt of gratitude which they owe to Lafayette and his companions."

"From all points of the front a single shout on this July Fourth will be heard: Honor to the great soldier! Long live the United States!"

NEW PUZZLES IN FOOD BILL

By Robert B. Smith
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 4.—The United States Senate is spending the glorious Fourth trying to extricate itself from the food and liquor bog in which it has floundered for the last two weeks. No regular session was held today, but there were informal conferences aplenty attempting to unravel the tangle over the bill.

New complications set in every hour. Chief among them are prohibition and cotton. The bill started out to control food. Now it has reached such an all-controlling state that Senator Johnson of South Dakota has proposed to strike it all out and substitute a tariff provision authorizing the government to commandeer men and property whenever needed.

BILL IS OPPOSED.
The argument now being pressed against the bill is that its control has been extended to such a degree that it has become too heavy and unwieldy and that it will seriously injure business and industry when it becomes effective. The addition of so many articles to the controlled list has added to the enemies of the measure. Southern Senators are ready to bolt the administration and vote against the measure unless cotton is eliminated. That the administration will be forced to take a hand in the mud-die once again and move to strike all commodities except food and fuel from the measure was predicted by close observers yesterday. As it now stands it is doubtful whether the administration could muster sufficient votes to force the bill to a vote within any reasonable period.

PETITION SIGNED.
Senator Chamberlain, in charge of the bill, had a petition signed by twenty-eight Senators for application of cloture rule. He will try again when the Senate reconvenes tomorrow to get unanimous consent to curtail debate and bring the bill to a vote. Failing to secure such an agreement, he will submit the cloture petition to Vice-President Marshall, who, under the rules, would be required to put the motion to restrict Senators to one-hour debate on the measure. However, the motion must receive a two-thirds vote, and as the situation stands today, there is a great deal of uncertainty whether it could be carried.

COL. CORNWALLIS WEST IS DEAD

LONDON, July 4.—Colonel William Cornwallis West died today at Rutin Castle, North Wales, aged 82 years.

Colonel William Cornwallis West was Lord Lieutenant of Denbighshire since 1872 and honored colonel of the Fourth Battalion of Royal Welsh Fusiliers. He married in 1872 the eldest daughter of the Rev. Frederick Fitzpatrick and Lady Olivia, who was a daughter of the second Marquis of Headfort.

Mrs. William Cornwallis West became involved in an army scandal in January of this year. She was severely scored for her interest and subsequent antagonism to a young Irish lieutenant. The officer was promoted and then punished, largely through her influence. Field Marshal Viscount French, who was named in the report of the court of inquiry, was criticized, while Lieutenant Colonel Delme Radcliffe was removed from command.

Colonel William Cornwallis West was one of the greatest land proprietors in England.

SAN LEANDRO IS A RENDEZVOUS FOR SWIMMERS

SAN LEANDRO, July 4.—Five hundred bathers spent the holiday at the San Leandro beaches. They came by automobile and street car from Oakland and other bay cities, and before noon the long stretch of inviting white sand was dotted with many groups of pleasure seekers. Today's attendance at the local beaches, which are steadily growing in popularity, is the largest for the season. There is talk of having the town make the beaches more attractive by erecting a bathing station and providing other conveniences for bathers. Until the Supervisors last year constructed a road extending from the end of Davis street through the benches, the possibilities of the San Leandro bay shore as a pleasure place were not fully realized, but since the beaches have been regularly patronized, especially on Sundays, by visitors.

WASHINGTON, July 4.—President Wilson taking advantage of the day to get needed rest, this morning boarded the naval yacht Mayflower for a trip down the Potomac river, possibly as far as Chesapeake bay. He was accompanied by members of his family.

CELEBRATIONS IN EAST ARE ENTHUSIASTIC

WASHINGTON, July 4.—For the first time in history a British envoy today took part in Independence Day celebration, the new alliance for war furnishing the excuse. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice took part in the exercises at Washington Monument, under the auspices of the Sons of the Revolution.

Not in 19 years has Independence Day brought a greater thrill to the American people than today. On July 4, 1898, the United States at war with Spain, heard that an American fleet had destroyed Cervera's fleet at Santiago.

Today America, again at war, was informed that its fleet of transports and destroyers had successfully landed an army in Europe to fight for world democracy. Not only did the United States navy safely land a force of fighting men in France, but on the long voyage through submarine-infested waters, German U. boats were completely foiled in their attempts to prevent safe passage of the ships.

Here in the nation's capital the day was observed with usual patriotic exercises. With Congress in recess and all the executive departments closed, governmental machinery, virtually was at a standstill. A joint public celebration of patriotic societies was held at the base of Washington Monument with Speaker Clark the orator of the occasion.

NEW YORK CELEBRATES.
NEW YORK, July 4.—New York City entered mightily into the celebration of the one hundred and forty-first anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence today with patriotic demonstrations in every part of the city.

Prominent men from all parts of the country took part in the annual program at Tammany Hall, chief among whom was Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Secretary of War Newton D. Baker addressed a celebration in the city. Mayor Mitchell and other city officials took part in a demonstration at the city hall.

Scores of military organizations took part in a parade up Fifth avenue and across the Mall. The Maine Monument at Central Park, where patriotic exercises were held.

Thousands March at Coast Metropolis

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—With thousands of soldiers marching in a column extending in an unbroken line from the Embarcadero to Van Ness avenue as one unit of the gigantic parade, the celebration of the natal day of the nation was begun this morning in a manner which will be remembered by the most fastidious observers of Independence Day in the history of the city. Noise of the old-fashioned variety was absent, for the people have learned the lesson of silence and order. There were no flags, surges of cheering and waves of rippling flags that evidenced a deeper devotion to the ideals of democracy than ever before. It was a War Fourth, and in every heart was a glowing faith in the world's military human brotherhood over aristocratic dominance.

Before the reviewing stand at the City Hall, the marching hosts from every rank in life passed before Major General Hunter Leggett, commander of the Western Department of the United States Army. Mayor James Rolph, Jr., acted as grand marshal, assisted by Supervisor Charles A. Nelson and thirty-seven other mounted aides. Seventeen bands and eight file and drum corps furnished music for the tramping thousands.

Two band concerts this afternoon offered entertainment to the citizens—one in the Exposition Auditorium and one in Golden Gate Park. The concert in the Auditorium was followed by a literary program in which the participants were: Mayor Rolph, J. Emmet Hayden, Archibald F. Hays, C. E. Hays, Mrs. C. E. Hays, James C. Sims, Bishop William F. Nichols, F. M. Andreani, A. Maubailly, Joachim Guizzo, K. Intl and George Jung.

This evening there will be a military ball in the Auditorium with a program of songs by local composers between the dance numbers. In the early evening a display of fireworks will be given in the Civic Center.

HURT BY MISHAP

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—Alfred Belhoffer, 34 years old, of 223 Market avenue, was fatally hurt this morning when he was thrown from his wagon in a runaway at Nineteenth avenue and N street. Belhoffer was driving a colt which whied at the discharge of a torpedo and ran away. He was thrown twenty feet in the air and struck on his right side, fracturing several ribs, one of which punctured his lung, and breaking his collarbone. He was taken to the Park Emergency hospital.

DROWNS TRYING RESCUE.

CALIXICO, July 4.—Heroic measures to save his young daughter from drowning claimed the life of Edward de Jarnatt in the Tamao river. The girl, Inez de Jarnatt, was saved by Fred de Nyes, who tried in vain to rescue her father.

PLACES CHILDREN AS PROMISED TO HIS DYING WIFE

LOS ANGELES, July 4.—His vow to his dead wife—made upon her deathbed—that he would give their four children to persons who could "give them their chance" has prompted B. F. Field to part with three of his family of four, and today he is seeking a home for the fourth and youngest, Eugene. Field is a house painter and declares he is not in a position to rear his family properly.

"It is heart-breaking to give away all I have left to love," Field said, "but I made the vow to my wife, and I am keeping it."

One of the children goes as far away as Colorado.

CHILD KILLED BY PICKING UP DYNAMITE STICK

SHERMAN, July 4.—Independence Day's first fatality occurred here early today when little Ramon Castro, 12, curious to know what a strange-looking stick was that "sparkled" at the end, picked it up just as it exploded. The lad was torn to shreds.

A motorist, out early for a morning salute to the Fourth, had tossed the stick of dynamite from his car and it had rolled a distance away to near the report. His cry of warning to the child was too late. As he saw death overtake the curious boy he drove furiously away.

LOS ANGELES, July 4.—Ramon Castro, 10-years-old, died here early today, the first victim of Fourth of July accidents. Both his arms were blown off by the explosion of two sticks of dynamite set off by early celebrators. The boy, from his home, saw the fuse sputtering and reached the spot as the explosion occurred. Three men are being sought in connection with the death.

LONDON JOINS IN CELEBRATING 4TH

LONDON, July 4.—By order of the King, the Stars and Stripes was flying from Victoria tower of the house of parliament today and also on all other government buildings, beside the Union Jack. Private buildings were bedecked with American flags as never before. Thousands of persons in the streets wore small flags and wagons and automobiles were decorated with the American emblem. Premier Lloyd George was interested actively in arrangements for celebration of the Fourth. The Welsh Guards band played American airs while guarding St. James Palace, as did the orchestras in all the theaters.

Ambassador Page and Mrs. Page held an informal reception this afternoon. The American Society will give a banquet tonight with Baroness Bunsen, United States Foreign Secretary, as the guest of honor. Other guests will be Lord Robert Cecil, Vice Admiral Sims, U. S. N., Admiral Jellicoe, chief of the naval staff, General Sir Robertson, chief of the Imperial Staff at army headquarters and the staff which accompanied Balfour to the United States. Francis Powell, chairman of the society, will preside and toasts will be given to King George and President Wilson.

JONES RE-ELECTED HEAD OF BOARD

George C. Kaufman, appointee of Mayor Davie, took his seat on the civil service board last night. The board re-elected Roscoe D. Jones president.

Further consideration will be given by the board to the request of the electrical workers employed by the city for an increase in pay from a present wage of $15 a month to $9 a day straight.

The position formerly held by Allen W. Sunkler as deputy plumbing and sanitary inspector in charge of squirrel extermination was abolished, and a new position of squirrel exterminator created, to be under civil service provisions.

LISTS ARE READY

City Clerk L. W. Cummings has completed his work in connection with the draft registration and today he turned over to the district exemption boards the entire matter upon which he and his force have been working for the last five weeks. All further clerical work now goes to the district boards under direction from the state board. It is planned that a federal board have supervision in congressional districts.

The seven district boards in Oakland now have in hand the re-numbering and listing of the registrations. New sets of numbers will be forwarded to Washington for the purpose of the selective draft.

WILL MEDIATE NEW QUARANTINE

LOS ANGELES, July 4.—In order to avert a strike which would impede the coaling of warships at the San Diego naval base, Secretary of Labor Wilson today ordered Captain Charles T. Connell, inspector in charge of the local office of the immigration department, to mediate the differences between the Spreckels Shipping Company and the longshoremen's union, which has asked for an increase in pay for its members.

Trouble has been brewing between

SACRAMENTO, July 4.—Dr. A. W. Sawyer, secretary of the State Board of Health, today announced that the rabies quarantine has been raised in the western half of Siskiyou county. Rabies is still prevalent in the eastern part of the county and many sheep and cattle are being killed by infected coyotes.

The longshoremen and shipping company over questions arising from the handling of coal for the government naval stations.

MERCHANTS TOLD BUSINESS METHODS

A lecture on retail merchandising was given yesterday noon at the Ad Club luncheon when Perry O. Warren, expert lecturer of the National Cash Register Company, told of the causes for loss in retail business, and how they could be remedied. Stereopticon slides and motion pictures were used throughout the lecture to emphasize the various points.

Particular emphasis was placed on the value of newspaper advertising to the retail merchant in the lecture. Warren said in part: "More people can be reached oftener and at less expense by newspaper advertising than by any other medium. But don't spend a few dollars advertising, and then say advertising doesn't pay. Make advertising a continuous policy of your store, and you will not be disappointed with results." The proper method of preparing newspaper advertisements was shown by the speaker.

SERMON IN FILM.
Window display problems, efficiency of clerks, store organization, selling methods, system in retail business, and delivery problems were also discussed in an interesting manner.

The three reel motion picture film, "Troubles of a Merchant, and How to Stop Them," which was shown in connection with the lecture, was a big feature of the evening. Actors from the Essanay Company portrayed the characters in the film, which was prepared by the National Cash Register Company at an expenditure of $50,000. In a vivid manner, the troubles of a merchant who conducted his store along out-of-date lines were shown. Although this particular merchant was shown along fourteenth hours a day, yet he was on the verge of bankruptcy, with no prospect of ever succeeding. Yet, by eliminating his leaks and losses, he rose to success in a financial way.

GROGER IS "HERO."
The chief character in the film was Mr. White, a grocer. His store was located in an old, unsatisfactory building. High windows prevented a good display of merchandise. The sidewalk in front of the store was dirty. Consequently many people passed his doors to buy elsewhere. His clerks were inefficient. Poor business methods lost him what money he did take in. He seemed to be hopelessly in debt.

But at this point a change came. He was induced to learn modern business methods. He cleaned up his store. He kept constantly in touch with every detail of his business. And soon he became a prosperous merchant.

WILSON TO RUSH WORK ON FLEET

WASHINGTON, July 4.—President Wilson has settled the ship controversy. The wooden ship program, supposed at one time to have been successfully submerged, will be in full swing early next week. Announcement of the President's decision is said to be held up pending the outcome of the food legislation before Congress.

The seriousness of the submarine situation and the desire to lose no more precious time in the construction of ships are said to have determined the President to act even at the risk of raising new complications in Congress that might further delay passage of the food bill.

There is no indication whether General Goethals, who has been the strongest opponent of the wooden ship, will be instructed to build them or whether a new wooden ship building corporation, under a new head, will be formed for that purpose. In that event General Goethals will be retained simply to build the steel ships.

No one will venture a guess how the President will confer the necessary power to build the ships or whether any heads will be lost in the process. The Cabinet is known to be at a split for the wooden ship and the warning sent out by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States that a shortage exists in steel has strengthened their belief.

SEEK FALL STYLES

July sees the height of many local business men to New York. Paradoxical though it may seem, New York is their Mecca, for they go to the style center of the United States to buy fall clothing for the smart Oaklander.

Leaving Monday in company with Samson Light, the junior partner, was a corps of buyers who will ferret out the choicest in women's and children's apparel for the firm of Marymont & Upright, thirteenth and Washington streets, York, whose whole mart is because, though the firm of Marymont & Upright is comparatively a new one, Upright has had years of experience in department store buying. He will remain in New York two or three weeks.

A four-burner Cabinet Gas Range. It's a beauty. The ovens, cooking top and high shelf are as conveniently located as on a range many times its size.

Baking oven accommodates six large bread pans at one baking. The convenient location of valve for oven burner, at front instead of at side, permits range being placed in a corner if necessary.

This range is well-constructed with polished steel full cast trimmed body.

Doors have white porcelain enameled panels. Tray under cooking burners and the broiling pan are porcelain enameled. It can be furnished with white porcelain enameled splashers back and side.

Dimensions—Baking Oven, 14 inches wide; 18 inches deep; 14 inches high. Broiling Oven—14 inches wide; 18 inches deep; 10 inches high. Extreme Dimensions of Range—42½ inches wide; 26 inches deep; 51¼ inches high. Cooking top at either right or left of oven.

The Gas Water Heater can be connected to any kitchen boiler. It requires only 8 inches floor space, needs little attention, heats water almost instantly and can be operated at a very slight cost.

This illustration represents an appliance that can be used separately, or in connection with any gas range.

The fire-box and general principle of construction are similar to that of a coal range. It is made to burn coke, coal, wood, sweepings, rubbish, paper and garbage, and will be found very useful in a kitchen where gas is used and there is no other way of heating the room.

When fitted with water, coil, it can be used for heating water in a kitchen boiler. Can be furnished to fit onto either right side or left side of range.
